RECEPTIONS OF COLFAX.

Enthusiastic Demonstrations Everywhere.

SPEAKER COLFAX'S RECEPTION AT FORT WAYNE.
(Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 29.

In the half hour's notice that our citizens received of the coming of the Hon. Schuyler Colfax, there had congregated at the depot, on the arrival of the train, several hundred people to welcome our illustrious citizen, and Indiana's favorite, to his native State. He was first permitted to eat his dinner, and was then presented to the enthusiastic crowd by Hon. Isaac Jenkinson, who, in a neat and appropriate speech, welcomed him to our city and back to his native State. Cheer upon cheer then rent the air as Mr. Colfax, in acknowledging the kindness and thanking the assemblage for allowing him to eat his dinner before giving him the reception, as before that he was too hungry to speak, and now he was too full for utterance. He often thought with gratitude of what he owed to the people of this State. Throughout the long years of his public service they had stood by him, until, at the Chicago Convention, they said they had one son who was their first and only preference for the position he now occupies on the Presidential ticket. At present he would not enter into a discussion of the political questions at issue during this campaign. He closed, amid loud cheering, by wishing nothing worse for the Democrats and Republicans of this place than that our great chieftain, who had conquered in the battle fields of the South, might in the coming civil battle succeed in taking this, the Gibraltar of the Democracy in Indiana.

At Columbia City, Warsaw, Plymouth, Valparaiso, and other points, he was received by hundreds of citizens, who evinced the greatest enthusiasm; on his appearance bands playing patriotic pieces and guns firing amid the loudest cheering by the crowds—unmistakable evidences of his popularity. Large numbers of people from Plymouth and vicinity go to South Bend to-morrow, to be present at his reception.

RECEPTION AT WARSAW.

WARSAW, Ind., July 29,—5:25 P. M.

Schuyler Colfax, on board the train, has just passed. He was greeted by an immense assemblage of people, and music by Bronson's Silver Cornet Band, and a salute of artillery. The train stopped but two minutes, Mr. Colfax having only time to return his thanks for the honor, when he left amid rousing cheers for the ticket that is bound to win—"Grant and Colfax."

ARRIVAL IN CHICAGO.

The Hon. Schuyler Colfax, who left Washington on Monday last for his Western home, arrived at Mansfield, O., on Tuesday evening, at which place he received an ovation, such as has never before been accorded by the worthy inhabitants of the town to a citizen of the republic.

The following are the names of those who compose the traveling companions of Mr. Colfax: Mr. G. W. Mathews, his step-father; Mrs. G. W. Mathews, his mother; Miss Mathews, and Mr. W. D. Todd, his private Secretary.

At Mansfield the party were met by H. S. Towle, Esq., of this city, who acted as a friendly escort in the journey onward.

ON THE ROAD.

At every station along the route between Mansfield and Chicago the utmost enthusiasm was manifested, all the inhabitants of each town turning out to do honor to the future Vice President. He spoke to large crowds at Alliance, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Van Wert, Fort Wayne, Columbia, Pierceton, Bourbon, Plymouth, and Valparaiso. Of course, at each of these places his speech would not consume a great deal of time, as the movement of the train was ordered by the clock, and oftentimes he was obliged to close up a sentence rapidly in order to make it intelligible, and then in a trice he would be out of sight of the shouting Republicans, but still within ear shot of their loud hurrahs.

THE ARRIVAL AT CHICAGO.

Notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the weather, last evening, there was a large concourse of people, certainly between five and seven thousand, at the depot of the Fort Wayne, Pittsburg & Chicago Railroad, to catch a glimpse of the great commoner, and add their voices towards giving him a right royal reception. As early as seven o'clock the crowd began to assemble in the vicinity of the depot, and a more orderly and respectable gathering has not been seen in Chicago for many years. At sharp eight the train, throwing a bright light ahead, was observed coming up the track, upon which the anxious people pressed towards the track, eager to catch a glimpse of the distinguished passenger.

THE CROWD.

When the train became stationary, so great was the jam that the less distinguished individuals in the forward car had great difficulty in elbowing their way to the coaches, but as for the Speaker and his party, if it had not been for the strenuous exertions of officials in their behalf, they would have been carried off their feet by the surging mass which pressed down upon them like a wave of the sea. And this accounts for the long delay at the depot, for our future Vice President was obliged to proceed at a snail's pace from car to carriage, so closely was he packed by friends. So dense was the surrounding crowd, that save by a fortunate few in the immediate vicinity, the cause of all the excitement could not be distinguished. But when some rash individual near, discovered his man, and telegraphed the fact in a loud tone, such a cheer arose from the enthusiastic crowd as made the old depot tremble and sent reverberations that must have reached at least a mile in circuit. Many were the exclamations of good will and affection that were now showered upon Mr. Colfax from every hand. "God bless you, Mr. Colfax; you're the man for us!" said one. "Speak to us, Colfax; tell us your mind," cried another, whilst two boys in their treble voices cried out their welcome in such expressions as, "How are you, Colfax?" "Bully for you!" Many calls were made for a speech, but none was vouchsafed. The party took coaches as quickly as possible, and drove to the residence of Lieut. Governor Bross, No. 202 Michigan avenue, where also a large crowd was in waiting to receive them.

THE RECEPTION.

After the Speaker and his party had been refreshed by tea and a short rest, the importunity of the crowd outside of Governor Bross' residence, now swelled to immense proportions, as manifested by loud cries and various tokens of impatience, became so great that it was thought advisable that Mr. Colfax should show himself on the balcony. This he did, and after a few words of introduction from Governor Bross and Mayor Rice, was obliged, by repeated and unyielding solicitation, to commence a speech.

Whilst speaking, Vaas' Light Guard Band, heading a procession of some four hundred Tanners from the Ninth and Tenth Wards, arrived on the ground. The speech was listened to with the most profound silence, but at the close of each sentence, or upon the utterance of a sentence unusually happy, deafening cheers were given from thousands of throats, and at the close, if it had not been for the timely interference of the band, which struck up a lively tune, the enraptured people would surely have hurrahed themselves hoarse.

The honored guest was introduced to the multitude by Hon. J. B. Rice, Mayor of Chicago, who spoke as follows:

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

Fellow Citizens: I, with the same object of all of you, have come here to-night to pay my respects to a distinguished servant of the American people, Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the House of Representatives, [voice, "Long may he live," and applause], who, by your votes and by the votes of hundreds of thousands who think like you, who love their country, are resolved to sustain him so that he will be Vice President of the United States, next November. With great pleasure I introduce to you the Hon. Schuyler Colfax. [Great applause.]

Hon. Schuyler Colfax was received with immense applause. Three rounds of applause were given before the opportunity was allowed him to speak. When some degree of order was restored, he said: "You make so good a speech yourselves to-night, that I hardly know what to say."

SPEECH OF MR. COLFAX.

Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen: I have just reached your city after a long and tedious journey from Washington, at the close of a protracted session of Congress, on my ride to a town that, much as I love Chicago, I love much more. That is, my home at South Bend. [Great applause.] But I am glad to see so many of you here assembled on this moonlight night, on the banks of your great lake, to render to me this testimony of your confidence and your regard.

I know how critically the people of America, in these later years, watch their public servants at Washington. I know how they have mourned when those public servants have proved false to the pledges upon which they obtained the positions which they dishonored. Realizing this, I am gratified, in my heart of hearts, to find that you manifest your confidence and your regard in me, as one of the representatives of the American people. [Great applause.]

I do not come before you to-night, even in response to your flattering call, to speak to you in regard to the political issues of the day. I have done so, heretofore, in your Opera House, in your halls, in all the places where the people of Chicago congregate. I have spoken to you and delivered my views and opinions on public measures and policies, in times past, for the maintenance and prosperity of this great country of ours, with no uncertain voice. There are none among you here, but know what are my convictions and my principles. They are part of my being. They have grown with my growth, and were strengthened with my strength [renewed applause], and as I have stood by them faithfully and unswervingly in the past, so shall I stand by them faithfully and unswervingly in the future. [Applause and three cheers given for Colfax. Voices, "that's the talk," "that's it," "good," "stick to it," &c.]

I have not deemed it proper nor seeming for for one who has been chosen, by the representatives of millions of people, to occupy a high place in the great national election to go into the political arena as if his views were not known; as if his views were to be expressed and commended to the people. [Applause.] My record is before you all. For fourteen years as a Representative it has been written in the records of the history of this country, and there is not—I can say before my God to-night—there is not a single record, that dying, I would wish to blot out. [Great applause. Voices: "Not many can say that;" "I believe you;" "that's so, old boy;" "we'll sustain you," etc.]

I have always had a great love for this great and growing and prosperous city of Chicago. [Renewed applause.] It is so near to the district which I have so long represented, that I have been with you in all your canvasses, from time to time, as well as among you in the enjoyment of the hospitalities of good friends. [Voice "You've got lots of them."] But I, naturally, now feel a deeper interest in this great city than ever before, when I have heard at Washington that the assembled representatives of the Republican party, in their convention at Chicago, saw fit to associate my name as being worthy to be associated with that great Captain of our armies, the hero of the century. I felt, indeed, it was no common honor that you, here, responded so heartily at that time, and since, to that selection. It has made me come still nearer to you than ever before. [Applause.]

What may be the result of this canvass, I am not the one to predict. I have faith, however, and confidence in that result. [A voice, "Don't be scared."] I believe that God reigns, and I believe there is an overruling Providence that holds in His hands the destinies of nations, and when I have heard, coming from the South, so rife with treason a few years ago, the fires smouldering kindled again into flame by the speeches you have read, as a few years ago, I believe sincerely that that Providence that watched over us in our hour of great trial will keep ward over us yet; and that as He bore us through trials and tribulations, and at last He lifted the feet of our soldiers from the very valley of humiliation to the height of glory, [applause] that He will now show that He never intends to give this country into the hands of the enemy. [Immense applause.]

I have naught to say of the platform of our opponents. My lips are sealed on this subject. I am not to say anything of the candidates of our opponents. My lips are sealed on that. But there is one subject on which my lips never shall be sealed until they are sealed in death. That is the proud and the glorious praise that attaches to this glorious Republican party, of which you and I are a part and parcel to-day. [Great applause.] Thank God that there has been such a party in this land! Its record is written on the proudest pages of our country's history. It stands there to our immortal honor, and when we shall have passed away, as we shortly shall, and when we mingle with the clods of the valley, and they shall be heaped upon our remains, your children and your children's children shall rise up to call you blessed, because you rose up to support that banner which is now in the hands of the noble hero of the country.

It is with me among the proudest recollections of my life that I remember that when men spoke with bated breath and some shook with fear, there was one party in the land which said, come weal or come woe, to the last man and the last dollar, we will stand by this country; even until the last drop of blood, and even to the last beat of our heart, [renewed applause], and amid disaster and reverse, alternating with victories and triumphs, we pressed on, until at last the sunshine of victory shone upon our banners and the rebellion was crushed. It is a proud reflection that in the hosts, the millions of Republicans, there was not one who for a moment despaired of the American Republic. [Voice, "not one."] Again, it is a proud boast, to-day, that among all the citizens in all the States of the Union that stand by our gallant General, who are upholding his armies today as they did in the war, there is not one but that has sworn before God that loyalty shall govern [continued applause] what loyalty has preserved. [Applause.]

And then, my friends, we shall have peace. We shall have peace that will stay, because it will be an enduring peace. We shall have peace because every man in this proud land shall have his rights protected; because there shall be no outrages or murders or violence, from the pine fields of Maine over the distant land of the South to the gulf, committed upon men for daring to express their opinions as God has given them minds to express them. We shall have peace, as with peace we shall have established the reign of law and order, and consequent prosperity. Of all the lands under the rays of the sun this is one that wants no more war; no more drafts; no more bloodsheds; no more carnage. In the impressive and sententious language of General Grant, I say, let us have peace. [Great applause.] The loyal people of the land, as Americans and men, say let us have peace. [Renewed applause.]

Now, my friends, I shall not longer detain you, for I came before you simply to return to you my thanks for this cordial greeting and welcome. There is no man that values the approbation of his friends and associates more than myself. It has been my aim to live faithfully by the principles that I have professed to you in times past, and to keep them before me as the apple of my eye, and they are dearer to me because they are sanctified by the blood of our soldiers that gave us by the revolution the title of the land, and because by their blood they saved the land and our liberties to us. [Great applause.] They are the more dear to me because upon them I am walking in the pathway illuminated by those who have gone before us; because they are the principles, the expression of which our fathers took upon their lips when they caused to be born this nation, to be a light unto all nations—when they gave to us the Declaration of Independence. Upon that that rock I have planted myself. Upon that rock we have planted ourselves, and no party of a section, or combination, shall be strong enough to overthrow or overwhelm us, or dictate to us, for upon this rock we stand against the world. [Applause.]

Now, my friends, I must leave you ["Go on"] for the rest to which I think I am entitled. You are to mingle in this great struggle, I am to sit quietly by with my tongue silent, not as in times past, but leaving these millions of people to decide this issue. But, I believe, as I said, there can be but one result. I believe, under Providence, the one man who with his brave and heroic defenders who saved this country when its existence was imperiled, will again aid in saving it. [Applause.] That man's name is Ulysses S. Grant. [Immense applause and three cheers.] I believe the gratitude of the American people, worthy as they have found this man in every station in which he has been placed, rising to the emergency of every occasion, frank and fearless in the expression of his opinion—this man General Grant—[renewed applause]—I believe that this republic will see that they who gave to his earliest hours upon the tented field the success he planned, now give him the guidance of the destinies of this great nation that he saved. [Applause.] And when he is inaugurated, as I believe he will be, on the 4th day of March next, as President of the United States, the world shall recognize that in this great republic of ours we honor one to whom the world owes more than to any other, and that when we have placed him in that seat that Washington adorned, and that Jefferson, and Jackson, and Monroe, and others have honored, that he shall bring back peace to the distracted country, and restore equality and justice to all men that live under our flag and under whose administration this great republic of ours, checked for an instant in its onward progress by war, shall go on in its proud triumph, conquering and to conquer.

Mayor Rice being called to the balcony said:

SPEECH OF MAYOR RICE.

You have seen to-night, and heard from our candidate for the Vice Presidency on the Republican ticket of this country. [Voices, "We know that! We like him!" &c.] Now, you will perceive at once that he cannot come before you and discuss all the points that enter into the can[illegible]. It would not be considered becoming in a candidate for so exalted a position. What he did and what he was glad to do, was to thank you for this manifestation of your regard for him. He did it frankly, manfully. That is all he can do. But what I would impress upon you is [illegible] your strength and his [illegible] in the vast [illegible] votes to be polled for that great ticket which he represents.

I can't resist saying a few words [illegible] what I want you to remember is that the President of the United States, that is to be, and the Vice President are not to be put into the [illegible] by speeches here and there, but by the [illegible] tion of the great principles that are to [illegible] the people of this country by every one of you and by your action accordingly.

Now, I want you all to think of this [illegible] great Captain of this age and of all [illegible] our candidate for P[illegible] more difficult and more trying po[illegible] man within your or my knowledge, and [illegible] did he fail to overcome all difficulties [illegible] time.

One of the charges brought [illegible] chieftain is that he cannot make [illegible] voice, "Make Rice President." Now, [illegible] I ask every one of you to read the few speeches that he has made. [Great [illegible] ask you to read every letter that he has [illegible] and which has been published, and see if any of you can pick one word out and put it [illegible] in. [Voices; "That's it!" "Go on," &c.]

He has never, no matter how great [illegible] talked about himself. [Applause.] [illegible] the American people to [illegible] talk about him.

Now, while this may be said of one [illegible] leader, of him who [illegible] the [illegible] have no desire to talk of a man [illegible] but I look on Mr. Colfax, as [illegible] lic property—I will say of him [illegible] the years he has [illegible] ties (and he has daily [illegible] occupied the most dif[illegible] he has been honest and [illegible] ber of the H[illegible] and fai[illegible]

Now, you want a man [illegible] for President, and you want a man [illegible] for Vice P[illegible] [illegible] them both on the Pl[illegible] a Republican in the Uni[illegible] to vote that ticket and have any [illegible] November [illegible] I have no doubt of [illegible] be its result, I [illegible] say he fail[illegible] to vote and what he is still a Republican.

Now, I ask of you all to remem[illegible] to your fri[illegible] to talk [illegible] and get [illegible] to vote the ti[illegible], and then you will [illegible] and Colfax. [Great applause.]

CONCLUSION.

After the [illegible] of Mr. Colfax and [illegible] Rice, Lieut[illegible] Governor B[illegible] and expressed a wish that the [illegible] call for any further [illegible] as his [illegible] somewhat exhausted after his jo[illegible] desired a quiet night's rest. [illegible] out, "Colfax! Colfax! Bring him [illegible] we want to look at him." Upon [illegible] Mr. Colfax once more app[illegible] general cry for a light, so as [illegible] face. This was [illegible] Bross in such a position as to [illegible] on the countenance of the Speaker [illegible] now became [illegible] Mr. Colfax retired, after which the [illegible] dispersed.

It may be said, in conclusion, that [illegible] accorded Schuyler Colfax last [illegible] him, as to the Republicans [illegible] harbinger of what the future [illegible] ble earnest of what the city of Ch[illegible] form in the approaching [illegible]

NOT SIX YEARS OLD.—The [illegible] Tennessee) Express of October 31, 1862, lies before us. "It is a small, dingy [illegible] all over with rebel malignity and [illegible] victories. One dispatch from Chatt[illegible] over the killing near Nashville of [illegible] Colonel of a renegade T[illegible] who nevertheless is still alive and a [illegible] of Congress. General Beaur[illegible] Charleston that "the abolitionists [illegible] force at Pocotaligo and Coosawhatchie [illegible] 23d, and were badly whipped" [illegible] abolitionists left their dead and wounded [illegible] Our cavalry are in hot pursuit." [illegible] (John H.) has just [illegible] Lex[illegible] (Ky.). Bragg's bulletin claims a [illegible] at Perryville (Ky.) with the capture of 400 men and 15 guns, yet oddly admits that he is on the [illegible] with the "enemy following slowly but not [illegible] ing us." But the news that m[illegible] hearts is as follows:

"The Democratic gain in Ohio is 50,000."

"The Democrats have a majority in the Legislatures of Indiana and Pennsylvania [illegible] securing two United States Senators"—that is, Hendricks and Buckalew.

John Mitchell has just arrived in Richmond via New York and Washington, under [illegible] and is to have an Irish brigade raised for him, which he didn't.

But the "great gun" of this little [illegible] is the manifesto of Thomas A. R. Nelson (late Andy Johnson's spread-eagle advocate before the Senate) wherein he, in reply to a rebel Committee, sets forth that he has been a [illegible] because of Lincoln's [illegible] and uphold slavery, but [illegible] of freedom has made him a first-rate [illegible] closes as follows:

"Now, with all these acts before me, I declare to you most solemnly, that, unless I am mistaken in my own powers of endurance, I would have suffered confiscation, banishment, imprisonment or death before I would have taken [illegible] the United States; because I believed Lincoln intended honestly to redeem his pledges. But his last proclamation came upon me like a clap of thunder in a clear sky. It filled me with amazement and horror. It satisfied me that Lincoln's pledges were insincere. It convinced me that he had basely violated his oath to support the Constitution. It assured me beyond doubt that his object is not to restore the Union as it was, or the Constitution as it is, but to rob us of our slaves, and not only to deprive us of the political power which their ownership gives us under the Constitution, but, in emancipating them, to enslave us. His declaration that the whole power of the army and navy of the United States shall be employed to accomplish these nefarious purposes, is not only wicked but monstrous. No principle in the Constitution, no necessity of civilized warfare can justify or excuse it. It will not do to say that the Southern States have brought the evil upon themselves, for if they were wrong in the outset—a conclusion which is by no means so clear as it seemed to be before he showed his hand—it was his duty, as the champion of the Constitution, to keep them in the wrong, and not become infinitely the greatest violator of the instrument he pretends to sustain.

The Oakland Transcript says that the Democratic candidates are a wet set. Seymour says, in his letter of acceptance, he was caught in an overwhelming tide, and Blair, at last accounts, was half-seas-over. A national inquest will be held on their remains on the 4th day of November. The verdict will be "drowned by the overwhelming tide."

The Copperheads are so deficient in arithmetic that in adding up the States, they claim, they don't know how to "carry one."

"Unwise Issues"—Financial Ruin

The Democratic policy as indicated by the national platform and expounded by Pendleton contemplates the issue of $1,600,000,000 greenbacks with which to redeem the outstanding bonds of the Government. It proposes to pay certain coin debts with a currency worth now, less than 70 cents on the dollar repudiating the balance of over 30 cents on the dollar. If the issue of any such sum of greenbacks be ever made common sense teaches that their value must still further depreciate. It has been the invariable experience in financial experiments that the greater the issue of paper money the further is its value removed from par. On this point we have the testimony of Mr Pendleton, himself, as to the bad policy of issuing paper money at all. On the 29th of January 1862 when the bill to authorize the issue of $150,000,000 treasury notes (legal tenders) was under consideration in the House of Representatives, Mr Pendleton said

> The gentleman from New York (Mr Spaulding) called them 'demand notes' They have been so called throughout the country. They do not bear a single characteristic of a demand note. There is no time, from the hour when they shall pass into the hands of the holder, when he can by their terms demand that they shall be redeemed. There is no time when the faith of the Government is pledged to their payment. The holder may present them, and he is told the time has not arrived at which, by the face of the bill, they are to be paid. They will inevitably depreciate. The wit of man has never discovered a means by which paper currency can be kept at par value, except by its cheap, speedy, certain convertibility into gold and silver. I need not cite gentlemen to history or authorities, writers on political economy, to prove it. Unless convertible they have always depreciated; they always will depreciate; they ought to depreciate, because they are only valuable as the representatives of gold and silver, and if they are not convertible into that of which they are the representatives, they must necessarily lose their value.
> You send these notes out into the world stamped with irredeemability. You put on them the mark of Cain, and, like Cain, they will go forth to be vagabonds and fugitives on the earth. What, then, will be the consequence? It requires no prophet to tell what will be their history. The currency will be expanded; prices will be inflated; fixed values will depreciate; incomes will be diminished; the savings of the poor will vanish; the hoardings of the widow will melt away; bonds, mortgages and notes, everything of fixed value will lose their value; everything of changeable value will be appreciated; the necessaries of life will rise in value; the Government will pay two fold—certainly largely more than it ought—for everything it goes into the market to buy; gold and silver will be driven out of the country. What then? The day of reckoning must come. Contraction will follow. Private ruin and public [illegible], either with or without repudiation will inevitably follow.

This was certainly a gloomy picture which presented itself to the anti-Repudiator (?) of 1862, when it was proposed, under the absolute necessities of the Government to issue one hundred and fifty millions of legal tender treasury notes. But what shall be said when the same man and the party of which he more than any other is the head, propose to issue sixteen hundred million dollars of exactly the same sort of notes, to be added to those already afloat? And this not to meet any pressing exigency, not because there is any lack of currency, not because it will stiffen the credit of the Government, not because the notes issued will be the more easily or readily convertible into coin but simply because it has been determined within the Democratic party that a large proportion of the public debt shall be repudiated.

What would be the effect of such an issue of paper? Seymour himself answers, whilst arguing against unwise contraction of the currency, that, "if, on the other hand, we [illegible] the currency by unwise issues, we shall equally perplex business and destroy sober industry." Thus spoke Mr Seymour only a week before the Convention which declared in favor of just such an "unwise issue" as he then decried. Mr Seymour has since accepted the situation, endorsed the platform and is fairly committed to the stupendously wicked scheme to debase the currency, to defraud the creditors of the Government, to ruin the public credit, to inflate prices, to depreciate fixed values, to diminish the incomes, to waste the savings of the poor, to melt away the hoardings of the widow, to destroy the value of the bonds, mortgages and notes, to appreciate all changeable values, to raise the price of all the necessities of life, to force the government to pay two-fold for everything which it goes into the market to buy, to drive silver and gold out of the country, to bring private and public ruin and bankruptcy upon the whole country. If the reader will cast his eye up this column and read again the extract we have quoted from Pendleton's speech, he will see that this picture is Pendleton's own, a picture presented to him by the proposition to issue only one hundred and fifty millions of greenbacks. The Democratic party now stakes its success upon the proposition to issue nearly eleven times as many greenbacks! If financial ruin stared us in the face upon the issue of $150,000,000 greenbacks, what vastly greater, more wide-spread and utter ruin must impend upon the issue of $1,600,000,000? When the avowed and only object of such an "unwise issue" is to cheat the creditors of the government—a large proportion of whom according to Seymour's speech of March 11th, are innocent and compulsory holders of bonds, fire and life insurance companies, savings banks or other trust companies which "are the reliance of the great body of active business or laboring men"—can any form of words fitly describe the crime sought to be perpetrated by the Democracy against the people?

Yet if Seymour and Blair shall be elected, this dangerous, this intensely dishonest policy will be adopted and the finances and the business prosperity of the country will be sunk to such utter depths of ruin that five generations shall not be able to restore them and all to reach and punish the bondholders! Who are the bondholders? Let Seymour answer. In his speech of March 11, before he had been caught by the overwhelming tide which will not lead him on to the fortune of the Presidency, he said

> The savings banks of this State, (New York,) which are the depositaries of the poor or of persons of limited means, hold about $60,000,000 of government bonds. The whole amount held in the State of New York, in the various forms of trust, will not fall below $200,000,000. If we look into other States, we shall see that only a small share of these bonds are held by men known as capitalists, but they belong in fact if not in form to the business men the active and the laboring men of society. The destruction of the securities would make a wide spread ruin and distress which would reach [illegible] every working and every [illegible] however humble.

Since [illegible] that warm [illegible] at [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Democratic party the destruction [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] credit of the government. He has [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The New York [illegible] says of the bill [illegible] introduced in Congress just before the recess to tax the bonds of the United States that it may be set [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] shapes. The bill [illegible] is just what the Democratic platform calls for.

The Democrats object to Gen Grant because they say he talks horse. Gen Palmer, Republican candidate for Governor of Illinois, answers this objection very well by saying, "I would rather have a President talk horse than talk treason."

The Herald thinks the wide-spread [illegible] satisfaction manifested by the Democracy concerning the nominations at New York [illegible] favorable indications. So do we; they are certain signs of success for the Republican candidates.

En Route. Arrived at Salt Lake

We last evening received the following telegram

SALT LAKE, Aug 18, 1868.

To OREGONIAN:—Arrived here at [illegible] Call on Brigham to-morrow. [illegible] Dodge starts on his survey to Portland to-morrow.

A M TORVEA

The New York Commonwealth says the Republicans can carry New York this fall by 30,000 majority.

IDAHO

LATER ELECTION NEWS

The following is from the World of the 12th

Returns, of course cannot be given complete, but enough are known for us to assure our readers that the Democracy have carried their entire ticket. We give the reported majorities for the most strongly contested offices: Shafer, for delegate about 500; [illegible], for District Attorney about 200; Britten, for Sheriff, 24; Donaho, for Assessor 12. We hope to be able to give the official returns, in tabular form in our next issue.

ALTURAS COUNTY

The Statesman of the 13th has the following

Through the kindness of John [illegible], we give the following election returns from Alturas county: Salmon Falls, Democrats 8, Union 2; Cold Springs, Democrats 7, Union 1; Indian Creek, Democrats 10, Union 7. Democratic majority in three precincts, 15.

OWYHEE COUNTY

Further advices from Owyhee have it that Shafer's majority is 40; Head's 90 and Stevens for Sheriff 165 majority over Springer. If this is really true, we can safely proclaim to the people that fraud has been not only the watchword but strongly practiced by the Democrats on Monday last.

INDIAN AFFAIRS

The Statesman says: Col Sinclair returned yesterday from his expedition to Salmon river with forty-one Indians. We understand they are not of the Snake tribe that have been committing depredations in the Territory, but are a part of the Boise Indians that have become separated from their tribe and were afraid to return. They will probably be sent back to their hunting and fishing grounds, and not to Weiser, which is near Stein's mountain. The expedition of Col Sinclair clears up all the Indian question in this part of the Territory. It will establish friendly relations between them and the whites, and put an end to the stock stealing and all other difficulties with them. They will probably go back to their fishing grounds till the Fort Hall reservation is established.

Mr J A Landis, who accompanied Col Sinclair's expedition as guide, sends us a [illegible] accompanied by a pair of huge moccasins which were taken from some of the Indians over on the Salmon. They measure about sixteen inches long by about six wide and when stuffed with rags or fur and worn [illegible] [illegible] will make a fearful looking track in the sand [illegible]

HARVESTING

We notice quite a number of reapers and threshing machines moving up and down the valley indicating a lively harvest time with our farmers. The general report is that the crops will be above average this year. We hope this will turn out to be true as they deserve the reward for their labor and chances against the grasshopper element.

EASTERN OREGON

We clip the subjoined items from the Umatilla Press of the 15th

The adjourned mass meeting for the consideration of the county seat question takes place at Swift's Station on Thursday next.

J W Bowman, of Birch creek has a mammoth calf which, at the age of six months and six days old, weighed 640 pounds in the presence of a number of disinterested persons. Who can say that Umatilla county is not adapted to stock raising? This calf should be exhibited at the State Fair.

A gentleman in this city has [illegible] well to us a railroad project from this point to some place beyond the sand stretch and about twelve miles distant, which promises larger results than any enterprise we have heard mentioned. Next week we will give details.

Mr B B Bishop, our newly appointed postmaster took possession of the office on Wednesday last and has removed it to the building formerly occupied by Dr [illegible] drug store [illegible] street which is a central location. Mr J H Adkins, a clever and courteous gentleman, is appointed deputy.

We know of no better investment that could be made for the capital needed than the erection of a flour mill on the Umatilla near this place where a splendid water privilege could be had. Farmers in the interior would be accommodated, the production of wheat increased and the trade of the town benefitted.

Although our citizens are complaining of dull times, which is the universal complaint everywhere, yet we have good prospects ahead. Situated at the foot of the Umatilla rapids, which makes this point really the head of navigation for a portion of the year, at the terminus of the great thoroughfare to Idaho, and with a large agricultural and grazing region and newly developing mines, dependent upon it for supplies, it must always be an important point of trade.

WALLA WALLA ITEMS

We get the following from the Walla Walla Statesman of the 14th

The business men of Walla Walla have determined to receive legal tenders at San Francisco quotations.

Captain John A Sims, an early settler of this valley, but for the past year or two a resident of Montana, has disposed of his interest in that country and returned to his early home in Prince George's county, Maryland.

The case of Parker vs. Parker, an application for divorce occupied the District Court all day on Monday and Tuesday, and a part of Wednesday. At the conclusion of the argument of counsel Judge Wyche announced that he would render his decision on Wednesday next. Our next issue will contain a full report of the trial.

For several months a number of Mormons have been located in this valley. Their settlement is about seven miles out of town in an easterly direction and in the immediate vicinity of Mass' new school house. The leader of the colony is a man named Davis, who claims to be the medium through which the Saviour makes direct communication to a sinful world. These Mormons are represented to be a quiet industrious people, differing in no wise from their neighbours save in their peculiar religious faith.

A Democratic paper, more honest than polite, says: "We might have triumphed with Chase and Hancock but the Convention preferred to be beaten with Seymour and Blair. Perhaps four years more of adversity may teach us a little wisdom."

Here is a little modern Shakespeare between two chaps who don't stand the ghost of a chance

Blair—"Methinks I see the White House."
Seymour—"Where?"
Blair—"In my mind's eye, Horatio."

SOUTHERN OREGON

[illegible] items from the Jacksonville Sentinel:

[illegible] freight [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Richard Buchard, S J, was completed last Saturday.

The store room in which Mr D [illegible] will sell [illegible] [illegible] day. He may be expected [illegible] Tuesday or Wednesday next week.

[illegible] M Cool, President of the [illegible] Mine [illegible] [illegible] that the [illegible] machinery has arrived at San Francisco and will probably reach its destination during the first week in September.

On Tuesday last Mr George W Daily was cutting grain for Mr Wolcott near Ashland, when the [illegible] [illegible] suddenly from the stack [illegible] injuring the face of the [illegible] severing all the upper tendons of the [illegible]

[illegible] Scott, the convert [illegible] preached in the Methodist church [illegible] Sunday [illegible] [illegible] text from Timothy IV. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The discourse was marked throughout for the [illegible] and good reasoning and although the speaker was much fatigued by a long stage ride yet the sermon was marked by many such bursts of eloquence.

We referred recently to the large importation of guerrillas necessary to carry the election in this State for the Democracy and it seems we were not mistaken. Quite a number of the Ku Klux [illegible] have located in a part of this county known as Sams Valley and it seems found a rival Long Tom in notoriety. A short time since Mr Livingston was arrested on the charge of arson and several Democrats of the better class in that neighborhood stepped forward and went on his bail bond. This appears to have excited much indignation among the "Klan," and notices [illegible] Livingston's bondsmen as very bad Democrats have been posted in various parts of the valley. Not content with this expression of [illegible] some miscreant who richly deserves a rope, poisoned three cows and a very valuable mare for Mr Cardwell a few nights since and it is probable that in retaliation will be committed if the cowardly skunks can do it without detection. Altogether Sams Valley must be a nice place to live in and it is no wonder that it gives up so handsome a majority for the Democratic ticket.

From the Plains

The Cheyenne Leader of July 27th has the annexed intelligence of interest

Last Saturday evening, about nine o'clock, the immense pile of coal lying just below town, belonging to the railroad company, was discovered to be on fire. Exertions were made to subdue the destroying element, but without avail, and in a short time the whole mass, together with a large amount of pine wood adjoining was one immense mass of roaring flames. About 2,000 tons of coal and 1,000 cords of fat pine wood were consumed and the loss to the railroad company will reach $30,000 or more. The origin of the fire is said to be spontaneous combustion in the mass of coal deposited in one body, and very probably superinduced and aided by the wetting of the pile by the late rains which have prevailed here.

General Grant and party returned from Fort Steele and Fort Sanders at noon yesterday and in the afternoon visited Fort Russell. Upon his return to the city in the evening he was waited upon at the [illegible] House by a large delegation of the Grant Club of Cheyenne together with a numerous body of citizens generally. W W Corlett, President of the Club, made a very neat and pretty little speech welcoming him to our town and expressing sentiments of admiration and profound respect for the eminent services of the General for the country. This was replied to by the General in about sixteen words in which he thanked them for their attention and hoped the time would not be long delayed when the people of Wyoming should have a voice in the national councils. Generals Sherman and Sheridan were present. A half hour was pleasantly spent in general conversation. This morning pretty much the whole town was out, the Democrats who had been belated in getting their morning drinks were hard to see the distinguished visitor take their departure. As the train moved off a salute [illegible] [illegible] cheers from a thousand loyal voices gave [illegible] the General assurance of our love for what is truly the greatest man on the continent—Ulysses S. Grant.

Saturday last was the day fixed upon for the Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad to meet in New York and give a final answer as to the location of the end of the Denver branch. We are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] makes the location of the junction at this point an absolute certainty.

We learn from [illegible] parties just down from Fort Laramie that the United States Army Paymaster's [illegible] was attacked last Thursday by Indians just beyond Fort Fetterman. There were about sixty men in the escort, and at the first attack three [illegible] were killed. The Indians were finally put to flight after a short battle and the command proceeded on their way without further molestation.

Eccentric Pursuits

The splendor may be discovered by the inquisitive traveler, but the greater part of the unknown of Paris is unsuspected. How many persons were familiar with Lord Wellington's statuettes? Who entered Mr Hope's house? Who, passing along the Palace Vendome could suspect the floral treasures accumulated behind these grave walls? There are treasures concealed in Paris whose existence no one imagines. These treasures are of all sorts, books, medals, birds, insects, engravings, china which the possessor has been a lifetime amassing. A few days since a court of justice revealed to our astonished eyes the existence of a group of alchemists. Marquis d'Ourches was a man of substance who early in life became possessed of the idea that there was more in magic, necromancy, witchcraft, chiromancy and alchemy than people commonly thought. He traveled over Europe hunting works relating to the subject and copying all the trials of persons suspected of proficiency in them. In process of time he amassed a valuable library. He purchased in one of the suburbs of Paris but [illegible] a large lot on which he built a house suited with his pursuits. Separated from the street by servants' chambers and a sombre garden was his dwelling. The greater part of it was devoted to his library. The walls were filled with shelves, a massive table surrounded by massive chairs stood in the centre of the hall, which was lighted by an iron lamp of fantastic shape which hung from the ceiling. Here he, Baron de Guldenstubbe, Mlle de Guldenstubbe and Count de Brenberg would prosecute their inquiries into the occult sciences, would make tables turn and spirits rap until at the respectable age of six and eighty years Marquis d'Ourches died. He provided by his will that Baron de Guldenstubbe should inherit all his books and manuscripts, and the hospital of St Germain should be the residuary legatee. Baron de Guldenstubbe, like Dominique, contended the bequest included the house as well as the books. Dominique you remember was an Italian comedian. One day when he had given more than usual amusement to Louis XIV the king, who was at supper, pointed to a golden platter in which were a pair of roasted partridges and said to a servant "Give that dish to Dominique." The astute and greedy actor quickly asked "And the partridges, too?" The king smiled at the wilful misinterpretation of his speech and answered "Yes, and the partridges too." The court, less magnificent than Louis XIV, has decided Baron de Guldenstubbe to be entitled only to the library and not to the house in which the books are kept. A bequest of this sort, if made to a person of narrow estate, is apt to prove a white elephant. Where could he procure money to rent a house of sufficient size? There is an old fellow here who somewhere about the year 1800 was seized with a passion of collecting theatre bills. There are as many maladies of the brain as there are of the blood. All went well until house rent advanced fifty or a hundred per cent. The poor fellow found it impossible to house his play bills whose weight amounted to several tons. The last I heard of him was that he was attempting to find somebody willing to purchase his collection of waste paper. Such it is since its whole value lay in the excitement of the chase. It is a pity he did not pursue game; all birds are not game. Another collector amused himself during the year 1848 by amassing all the newspapers, bills and other ephemeral productions of that revolutionary epoch. He made a selection among them, choosing the most eccentric protestations, the most dolorous schemes and declarations of political principles of every leading statesman of the Second Empire. These he published. The work found so much favor that it has already reached the sixteenth edition. Paris Correspondence.

FROM HONG KONG.—The French ship Jeanne [illegible] from Hong Kong [illegible] China, arrived at this port yesterday afternoon at two [illegible] of the Oceangua [illegible] She is consigned to [illegible] Tung, Lung & Lung [illegible] of this city and brings [illegible] together with a cargo [illegible] Many rumors were afloat [illegible] and [illegible] among the [illegible] this vessel [illegible] upon her arrival [illegible] Ankeny [illegible] shore out of curiosity to witness [illegible] arrival [illegible] we believe [illegible] from the Flowery Land [illegible] Chinamen [illegible] great numbers [illegible] were [illegible] informed that [illegible] number of passengers, about thirty [illegible] on the voyage which has been [illegible] now sick but we are assured that [illegible] exists among them, and that the deaths which have occurred were caused by the short allowance of water and the extreme heat, which has been sufficient to debilitate the strongest of men. The Jeanne [illegible] is a full rigged ship [illegible] drawing about seventeen feet of water. We do not learn, however, that she experienced any difficulty [illegible]

THE NEW [illegible] The Portland Water Company are engaged [illegible] a large reservoir [illegible] Seventh street [illegible] about fifty by one hundred feet and twelve or fifteen feet in depth. The excavation [illegible] completed. The embankments are supported by thick brick walls. The [illegible] is also to be [illegible] with cement. When this reservoir is fully completed it will be a credit to the enterprise of the Company and of great advantage to the people of the city. Many of the residents of the portion of the city west of [illegible] and south of [illegible] are often troubled for water to use during a part of the year—especially those who depend upon the hydrants, some of them not having anything like the necessary supply. The new reservoir will remedy this need which has occasioned great inconvenience. Good water is one of the greatest blessings in the world and every city which lays claim to any enterprise should see to it that an abundant supply is furnished the people at a moderate cost.

FROM THE DALLES.—We learn that a man named James Baugh fell overboard from the barge [illegible] at Collins' [illegible] on Monday morning and before he could be [illegible], sank and was drowned. His body was not found about half an hour afterwards and taken to the Dalles for interment. [illegible] C. F. Brown, W. P. Gray and D. D. Clark, surveying party, arrived at the Dalles on Monday. They intend to survey Rock Creek [illegible], and fifteen [illegible] Collins [illegible] Humbly [illegible], near the mouth of Snake river. At the [illegible] place [illegible] their [illegible] rocks in the channel, in order to [illegible] the [illegible] of clearing the river at this point [illegible] next [illegible] The decision in the Porter divorce case was to be rendered by Judge Wyche at Walla Walla on the 17th. The evidence seemed pretty strong in favor of Mrs. Parker.

FROM SALEM.—The Conference of the M. E. Church lately in session at Salem adjourned on Monday at six P.M. We have learned but little of their proceedings. By a [illegible] down from there yesterday we were informed that Rev. J. H. Wythe has been appointed Pastor of the Church at this place, Rev. C. C. Stratton the [illegible] of the church here being sent to Salem. Rev. J. T. Woodward was elected Professor of Natural Science [illegible] the Willamette University, vice Rev. J. G. Dear[illegible]. We will probably receive a list of the appointments to-day.

[illegible]—During the past ten days the whole atmosphere has been filled with a dense smoke, which gives [illegible] a kind of sombre appearance, and adds to the sultryness which is so oppressive. This [illegible] from the large fires which for several days have been burning in the woods north and west of town. To invoke a cooling rain [illegible] be unjust to the farmers, but it certainly [illegible] very grateful to the panting multitude of this city.

[illegible]—Mr Patrick Raleigh an old [illegible] of this place, died at his residence yesterday [illegible] at one o'clock. His failing health had for some time [illegible] to fear his early death. His disease, [illegible] of the heart, had been severe for several weeks [illegible] last he became worse, and lingered between [illegible] death until the time above mentioned. His [illegible] had the sympathy of many friends in Portland [illegible] was extensively known.

[illegible] LAST NIGHT.—The Circus was full again [illegible] The performance was even better than the [illegible], all the performers doing well. This afternoon [illegible] will be held for families, commencing at [illegible] In the evening will be the last performance [illegible], commencing at 7½ o'clock. As this troupe [illegible] for California on the steamer, those who haven't [illegible] should not fail to improve the last chance to see the [illegible] that has ever visited this place.

[illegible] OF OREGON.—Mrs. H. C. Victor is writing a [illegible] of Oregon for the last forty years. Col. Joe [illegible] who came here when Mt. Hood was a hole in the [illegible] has kindly furnished this authoress with many [illegible] connected with the early settlement of this part of [illegible] We suppose Joe Meek knows more of the [illegible] in regard to our young State than any other man in [illegible] world, and he can tell it, too.

[illegible]—Professor Cardwell will give a select [illegible] the fine hall in Poppleton's brick on First street [illegible] The Professor has made all the necessary [illegible] to furnish a pleasing evening's entertainment, and those who attend are assured that everything [illegible] be had to make this one of the finest parties of the [illegible]

THE M. E. SOCIABLE.—We dropped in at the Methodist [illegible] last evening and found quite a party assembled for social purposes. The ladies as ever were kindly at [illegible] supplying their guests with a most splendid [illegible], ice-cream, etc., gotten up in good style. All [illegible] highly pleased with the entertainment.

BASE BALL MATTERS.—The Athletic Base Ball Club go [illegible] this morning to play the first of a match [illegible] with the Washingtons of that place. The Pioneers [illegible] challenged by the Clackamas Club of Oregon [illegible] have accepted. The first game of the match [illegible] played at Oregon City next Saturday.

THE [illegible] ICE COMPANY.—The agent of this [illegible] remembered us kindly yesterday and presented [illegible] a fine block of ice wherewith to cool our [illegible] We credited the Portland [illegible] with the favor [illegible] day before. It should have been the company [illegible] the head of this item.

RAN AWAY.—The team of Mr. O. W. Vaughn ran away [illegible] road last evening, throwing Mr. [illegible] out but not injuring him. The team ran to the [illegible] of Front street and was stopped at the lower [illegible] without having sustained any damage.

THE MARKET.—The Ranger from Monticello last night [illegible] following 41 passengers [illegible] 14 bbls [illegible], 30 hf bbls salmon [illegible] and 35,000 feet lumber.

SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the Presbyterian [illegible] will hold their usual semi-monthly sociable this [illegible] in the basement of the church. All are cordially invited to attend.

DIVINE SERVICE.—Rev. Bishop Scott will preach at the [illegible] Church, corner Third and Taylor streets, this evening.

TO SAIL.—The steamship Continental sails for San Francisco to-morrow morning at six o'clock.

MR. CHASE ON RECONSTRUCTION.—The Washington correspondent of the Worcester Spy says: "In good time it will clearly be proven that Mr. Chase was consulted and advised with by the Republican Senators with regard to every one of the great measures that have been passed since the treachery of Andrew Johnson began. The Civil Rights bill was submitted to his criticism and approved. So with the Bureau Bill. Senator Wilson declares that both the original reconstruction laws were, in great part, prepared by Mr. Chase. I distinctly remember as the time that the Senator stated in debate that the bills received the sanction of the highest legal authority. When the Chief Justice last held Circuit Court in Maryland, he stated at Fredericksburg that in his opinion the Thirteenth article of the Constitution—the anti-slavery amendment—gave Congress power to enfranchise the [illegible] When questioned on this [illegible] on his return to Washington he reiterated the statement in still stronger language.

The Dubuque (Iowa) Times says that the Western Democrats comfort themselves with the reflection that while Pendleton could not be nominated, Seymour cannot be elected.

"Egypt is in a blaze of enthusiasm for Seymour"—Springfield Register.

"So was New York city during the draft riots."—Chicago Journal.

CALISAYA BARK.—It is said that Messrs Drake & Co [illegible] of Calisaya Bark in [illegible] PLANTATION BITTERS [illegible] with the exception [illegible] PLANTATION BITTERS [illegible] and Appetizer [illegible] keep them fresh.

CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851
STEAM POWER, NOS 626 AND 621 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts. The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of the new [illegible] counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior products for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only a fact [illegible] the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering, though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Chemistry of Sun-Strokes

An article in the New York Journal of Commerce describes the mystery which associates itself with the cause of sun stroke, which cannot be in the intensity of the sun's heat, as the human body endures, without injury, a much greater quantity. Workmen in certain cases are exposed to ten degrees, and sometimes a higher temperature than that at which sun stroke is produced without its visibly affecting their health. Men have indeed sat in heated ovens unharmed while animal food was cooked at their sides. How, then, is it that men will comparatively melt away with heat in the open air? To this question the article mentioned makes answer as follows:

"The reason, we think, must be looked for in the chemical character of the sun's rays. The heat of the sun differs from every other kind of heat, as the light of the sun differs from every other kind of light. The effect of the sun's heat upon plants—as contrasted with artificial heat—is the most familiar and perhaps the most striking illustration at hand. All animate and inanimate things are subject to precisely the same great laws of nature; and the solar heat which makes the flowers droop and close their petals, as if to shut out their dazzling rays, is not without its marvellous chemical effect upon the sensitive brain of man. The effect is chemical—just like the effect of a poison. Strychnine, cyanide of potassium, arsenic, morphine and the other deadly drugs do not work more marked organic changes in the system than dark-colored and injected with blood, and a post mortem examination discloses congestion of the brain, lungs and heart. These are the effects, varying in degree, of the administration of poisons. The chances of recovery from poisoning are far better, if remedies are seasonably applied, than from sun stroke. The latter is almost always fatal with persons of delicate health or full blood."

The peculiar chemical action of the sun's rays on the human body being appreciated, prevention follows as a primary object, and keep out of the sun, if possible, should be a standing rule. But where this is not possible, keep as much in the shade as you can. Should exposure be necessary, an umbrella, a wet cloth or cabbage leaf on the head are excellent preventives of sun-stroke. Drink but little ice-water, eat sparingly of fat meats, take daily baths, walk slow, talk slow, gesticulate gently, avoid politics, and don't get unduly excited about anything whatever as you value your life. This is the sage advice of last year and the year before, and a century back of that. But while people are dropping on the pavements, and dying in an hour two, it is needless to stand out for originality. As to remedies there is no improvement on the old ones. The application of ice to the head and under the arm pitts, brandy and water or other stimulants administered internally, a mustard plaster on the stomach, vigorous chafing of the body, and especially the hands and feet, fanning and plenty of air—these are restoratives efficacious where anything is of avail. But the great point is to avoid a sun-stroke.

THE TERRITORY OF WYOMING.—Dr. H. Latham, in a paper lately addressed to Congress gives some interesting facts regarding Wyoming Territory. He says:

There are now 35,000 people—American citizens—within the limits of the district called Wyoming. That district embraces 110,000 square miles, and is nearly twice the size of the largest State east of the Mississippi. Its eastern boundary is about 800 miles from Yankton, the capital of Dakota, and nearly one-half of the people reside more than 1,200 miles from that capital. The Union Pacific Railroad is now finished for a distance of 250 miles within the limits of Wyoming, and by November next the cars will be running on that road across the Territory from east to west, a distance of nearly 500 miles. The facilities afforded by the Pacific Railroad for [illegible]—Wyoming, the exhaustless mines of gold, silver and copper with which the Territory abounds, its mountains of iron and thousands of square [illegible] of coal lands, its millions of acres of unequal[illegible] ranges, and the salubrity of its climate, are now attracting to that district of country a vast throng of [illegible] people.

It is [illegible] that in one year from this [illegible] will have a population of 60,000 [illegible] all American citizens. Cheyenne, the principal town in the Territory, has now [illegible] of more than 5,000 souls, [illegible] not yet a year old.

The [illegible] of Wyoming are practically without government and without law. Vigilance Committees usurp the functions of Courts, and the only restraint upon the evil-disposed is the fear of violence at the hands of those self-constituted tribunals. While the public lands remain unsurveyed, permanent improvements will not and cannot be made. For the people and for the Pacific Railroad there is a great and constantly increasing necessity for an early survey of the lands along the line of said road.

Strauss, a Jew of prominence in Pittsburgh has uttered his protest, in the Gazette, of this city, [illegible] the [illegible] to unite his people against Gen. Grant:

"[illegible] honorable, honest and loyal Israelite will act heart and soul for the success of the Republican ticket, as we do not vote for men, but for principle. Furthermore, the writer knows this to be a fact, that, as a general thing, every honorable Israelite of good standing, and who is proud of his good name in this and other cities throughout the country, feels himself insulted if classed with those who are hanging around our camps during the war, in anything but honorable [illegible], and never have been recognized, and [illegible] seen in the company of [illegible] meetings and pro-resolutions aiming [illegible] of the Republican party."

What [illegible], they are the sentiments of the [illegible] of honorable and intelligent Hebrews throughout the country.

In [illegible], Ill., is a temperance society to which [illegible] are admitted except those who have been [illegible] tiplers. The rank of the members is determined by the depth to which each had fallen, the President who has been chosen has been the worst and [illegible] drunkard of the society. The penalty for breaking the pledge is as many dips in the river as there are members in the club.

WHEN you are depressed by the gaunt, sickly feeling of a disordered system, which needs to be cleansed and stimulated into healthy action, take a dose or two of AYER'S PILLS and see how you can be restored for a shilling.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

PORTLAND, Og'n, July 28, 1868.

As there are a great many people sick and dying of a disease called Cholera Morbus, I would call attention to the Chinese Doctor Jim. Having eaten green fruit I was taken very bad with the above disease, and lay insensible for four hours, when Dr. Jim was called, and in 20 minutes after he gave me the first dose of medicine I was easy and [illegible]. I believe that there is no other doctor on the Pacific coast that could have relieved me as quick as Dr. Jim did.

SOOTHING AND BRACING.—There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

Farming Lands and Town Lots.

THE OREGON CENTRAL

RAILROAD COMPANY

OFFERS FOR SALE A GREAT VARIETY OF LANDS in MULTNOMAH, WASHINGTON and YAMHILL Counties, and along the line of their Railroad now being constructed.

VALUABLE Timber Lands in lots to suit purchasers.

LOTS in the City of Portland, Hillsboro', Forest Grove, McMinnville, and at points selected for Stations on said Railroad.

PERSONS OF LIMITED MEANS desiring to open Farms or secure Homesteads along the line of the Railroad, and persons desirous of making investments in real estate certain to increase in value, are invited to examine the lands here offered for sale.

Opportunities will be afforded to those who desire it, to pay for lands, or a portion of the value thereof, in labor upon the Company's road, and thus place it within the reach of every laborer to secure a home. Several contracts of this character have already been made, and persons without lands or a home are urged to examine this opportunity.

☞ A liberal credit extended to all purchasers, if desired.

Titles indisputable, with warranty deeds, in all cases.

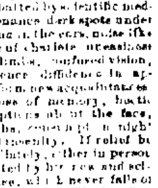
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of [illegible] Seminal Weakness, [illegible] Gleet, [illegible] all its forms, [illegible] long standing and [illegible] successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many [illegible] are suffering [illegible] from the [illegible] absorbed into the system [illegible] and diseases [illegible] constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage [illegible] on their [illegible]. Let parents, guardians, friends, and all [illegible] who are suffering with any of these horrible [illegible] maladies, see that they are cured [illegible]. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his [illegible] for years and who is certain to cure the most [illegible] cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to beware of the many pretended doctors who [illegible] their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, [illegible] upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be [illegible] and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers and dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus [illegible] dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and broke to labor to work at their trades. Some are Dentists, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes [illegible] but you will find their [illegible] in the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

Medical.

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgi[cal]

INSTITUTE.

- ⁂ CONSULTATIONS IN ALL C[ASES], FREE.
- ⁂ CURES GUARANTEED, OR [NO] PAY REQUIRED.
- ⁂ IN ALL CASES WHERE CON[FI]DENCE IS REQUIRED [THE] UTMOST SECRESY MA[IN]TAINED.

The above rules, estab[lished] by Dr. J. C. Young in 18[illegible] and which have done so m[uch] to secure the reputation of [the] Institute, are still adher[ed to] affording those in need [of] medical aid, the certainty [of] cure and the utmost confid[ence]

There is nothing of so gr[eat] importance to the sick as [to] know where to find a ph[ysi]cian whose skill and hum[anity] give assurance of proper [and] delicate treatment. The [Doc]tor would respectfully call [the] attention of those of both [sexes] who are suffering or in t[rouble] to the invariable success [that] has marked the career of [the] Institute in the seventeen [years] of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this [con]nection to enumerate all [the] complaints treated at the [In]stitute, but the Doctor fe[els it] his duty to call especial at[ten]tion to that terrible scourg[e] SEMINAL WEAKNE[SS] That is sapping with its [in]sidiousness the very life of [its] victims; in the treatment [and] cure of which the Institute [has] earned so enviable a rep[uta]tion.

READ! READ

I am aware that by dwelling upon so unin[viting a sub]ject as the decay of manly vigor through the [illegible] vital principle of life, the ignorant may [illegible] tive; but the desire to point out to those who [illegible] guish and decay, the true cause of their af[fliction] great an incentive to be forced into abeyance [illegible] tended the terrible disease of Seminal Wea[kness] one but the practical specialist who devotes his [illegible] treatment can tell; but its presence can be [illegible] the most inexperienced by noting the follo[wing symp]toms; Weakness of the back and limbs; [illegible] feelings, loss of muscular power; nervousness [illegible] cold feet or hands, accompanied by hot head [illegible] of consumption; short breath; flushings of the [illegible] sion to society; confusion of the mind; loss of [illegible] nightly emissions; colorless; slight discharges [illegible] least excitement; trembling; palpitation of the [illegible] regular appetite; variable temper, etc.

YOUNG MAN, if you experience any of t[hese] symptoms enumerated above, pause to consi[der] present is the golden moment in which you m[ay] health and happiness. You may feel strong [illegible] you have ever practiced the vice of self-abuse [illegible] SLIGHTEST DEGREE, you have the seeds of weakn[ess] system, and their undermining influence [illegible] or later, dash the fair edifice of your stren[gth to the] ground, leaving you a helpless, abject be[ing] disease that declares itself at once. Th[illegible] est danger; for while the patient is being tre[ated] affection of the Heart, Lungs, Brain, or Dig[estion] tions, he sinks into a general debility that [illegible] to the list of the victims of the terrible dise[ase] Weakness.

See in the bent form and languishing [illegible] victim of the fascinating vice! Mark the [illegible] destructive complaint in the hollow cheek [illegible]

Drowsiness is one of the premonitory sy[mptoms] first it is easily shaken off, but it gives [illegible] great disinclination to pursue his regular bu[siness] mind becomes apprehensive, and restless [illegible] days of depression.

It is the nature of the complaint to [illegible] changes that leave the poor victim but little [hope of re]covery. In a single instant it may [illegible] hopes and blast your honest aspirations.

Marriage is sought by a natural impulse [illegible] lief. This is an error of the first magnit[ude] tem, unprepared for the exigencies of the [illegible] denly fails, and he finds himself in a [illegible] from which there is but the slightest hope [illegible] Or if the marriage should result in off[spring] [illegible] ny, distorted, decrepid, and degenerate. [illegible] ble to both sexes, whether married or [illegible] times of life.

Do not delay if you feel any of the sy[mptoms of this ter]rible complaint, or if your acts have been [illegible] to them, but by instant application secure [illegible] only hope of health and happiness. The D[octor uses no] mercury or other deleterious drugs—cures, [illegible] time, always guaranteed, and full and p[illegible] stored.

The afflicted are assured of every conf[idence] [illegible]

PERSONS AFFLICTED WI[TH VE]NEREAL.

During the seventeen years since the estab[lishment of] the Institute, the number of cases of Vene[real] been treated, show a record unsurpassed by [illegible] in the world, and the success that has invar[iably attended] the course of treatment,

Without Mercury or other Dele[terious]

Drugs,

Shows conclusively the use of them to be not called for, but actually dangerous, for it is a [well] established medical principle that those poisons [illegible] by entering the blood, ruin the constitution a[nd] life.

The Doctor effects a cure in recent cases, in a [illegible] and finds no difficulty in curing those of long [standing] without subjecting the patient to such treat[ment as to] draw upon him the slightest suspicion, or o[blige him to] neglect his business, whether in-doors or w[ithout] diet need not be changed. Cures always g[uaranteed] no pay required.

IMPORTANT TO F[EM]AL[ES].

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with [illegible] requires medical or surgical assistance, the [question will] be, "Where is there a physician competent to [afford] relief, and whose respectable standing in [illegible] commend him to the confidence of the comm[unity]." [The] Doctor, understanding how imperatively [illegible] requirements are, feels called upon to [illegible] calling the attention of the afflicted to the fa[ct that he] has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female D[iseases for] [illegible] years, and is fully qualified to administer [in] both medically and surgically, not in a superf[icial way] but in as thorough a manner as years of study [illegible] —both in hospitals and private families [illegible] them from the hands of the unqualified, [illegible] designing. Therefore, families can rely upon him [as] a father. All in affliction can find in him one [illegible] and sympathize with and befriend them in [illegible] in whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be [placed] consultation by letter or otherwise, free. [illegible] teed in all weakness and trouble incidental [illegible] Private apartments are provided, when d[esired] be had all the advantages of unremitted att[endance of the] Doctor, and the most skillful and and faithful [illegible]

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Persons, either male or [female] residing in the interior, are often deterred from [illegible] the Doctor because they cannot spare the time, [nor] the expense of a visit to the city. To such be [it said] that a plain statement of the symptoms and [illegible] bearing upon the complaint, will enable him to [illegible] for them so that they can be cured at home. [illegible] have any false delicacy about writing, no matter [illegible] nature of their complaint, as the communic[ation will be] seen by no one except the Doctor, and will be [illegible] the utmost confidence, and either be returned [illegible]
